

Whether you are building a new school or renovating your existing one, when it comes to making schools more energy-efficient, the New York State Energy Research and Development Authority (NYSERDA) can help.

Visit www.nyserda.org for the latest programs available. For teachers, new lessons on solar energy and energy efficiency are also available on this web site.

Save money, save energy, and save the planet!

"We need to invest in energy education and the scientists of tomorrow, if we are going to succeed in solving our nation's most challenging energy problems. NYSERDA feels this competition will help stimulate interest in science research and for some, may possibly lead to an energy-related career path. We are excited to tap into the creative minds of New York State students and look forward to seeing what projects are entered."

Peter Smith
President of NYSERDA

Central New York Energy $mart Communities